

PHOTO OPPORTUNITY

Sitting for a gorgeous family portrait is worthwhile in itself, but Dan Brody Photography is offering an option you can really look back on with pride. Their “Expressing Gratitude” gift portrait program includes a studio session and an eight-by-eight portrait in return for a $200 donation (or $300 for groups of six or more) to Laurel House, the Montgomery County shelter for victims of domestic violence. The package is worth $700, and Dan's partner and wife Marcy avows that there's no pressure to purchase additional prints, though many clients do so. She started the program nine years ago as a project with her high-school age children and chooses a new charity each year. "We're just a small business," she says, "but I've always thought that through our vehicle and through Dan's talent we could really give back to the community." Through May 31 at Dan Brody Photography, 880 Lancaster Ave., Bryn Mawr; 610-520-9290; danbrodyphotography.com.
